*The Senior Class
Of
Mercy High School
Chicago, Illinois
presents the 1960 Mercian*

VOLUME XXXV

We, the Senior Class of 1960, present this book to the alumnae, present and future, with the sincere hope that every page will bring back precious memories of their years at Mercy; that as they relive these precious memories they will once again anticipate with the freshmen, dare with the sophomores, dream with the juniors, reminisce with the seniors, and share the thrilling experiences every Mercy girl has as she learns to know herself, her world, and God.

Dedication

"My Immaculate Heart will be your refuge and the way that will lead you to God." In commemoration of your gracious appearance to the three children, we, the Senior Class of 1960, in the name of the whole student body, dedicate this Mercian to you, Our Lady of Fatima. As future citizens, we beg of you to obtain for us peace for our land and for the whole world.

Dear Alumnae,

You say Mercy is your school; four years of working, praying, and playing at Mercy have given you the privilege of esteeming her as your Alma Mater. But we, the Senior Class of 1960, have also learned, laughed, and joyed together, and now we proudly join you in proclaiming Mercy as our Alma Mater. At Mercy we have found the educational, social, and spiritual guidance necessary for a well-rounded personality. Our years at Mercy have enriched our understanding of life and have provided us with a firm foundation of Christian ideals.

We are hesitant to leave, even as you were hesitant; hesitant to embark upon the future. Life is complicated; we know the future will be a challenge. We look to you for an example, and we somehow breathe easier because we see that you have succeeded. We observe that the principles you learned at Mercy you have wisely and successfully applied to your everyday life.

We know that Mercy has become a part of every one of you, just as we know that each of you has in some way upheld the tradition that is Mercy.

Since imitation is the highest form of praise, we can do no more to show our appreciation than to follow in your footsteps, and in so doing we shall prove our love and loyalty to the Sisters, without whom there would be no tradition, no Mercy. To both of you we say a small, insignificant word; but because it is sincere, we know it will be sufficient. "Thanks!"

The Mercian Staff of 1960

Editor Mary O'Gallagher, Laureen Dillon, and Noel Candice beam with happiness at the award won from Columbia University.

Again Mercy salutes its successful alumnae! These very talented girls brought Columbian and Yearbook of Distinction honors to Mercy through the 1959 Mercian. Determination, perseverance, and ingenuity were well rewarded with these singular honors.

Missing from the above photos are Agnes Beirne and Marie Burns, staff members who have entered the religious life.

Kay Granger, Kathy Maroney, Mary McDonagh, and Pat St. Leger seem to be saying, "We knew we could do it!"

Father Fahey

The teaching and guidance of our resident chaplain, Father Fahey, are helping to develop the charity and friendliness which seem to characterize the spirit of Mercy. Both faculty and students appreciate Father's efforts in their behalf. He is truly an example of a brilliant, holy and humble priest.

Our Priests-Other Christs

Father Raftery-Saint Dorothy

The third floor orchestra room often resounds with Father Raftery's energetic teaching. Through his enthusiasm, the junior class has discovered that there is more than one way to arrive at a practical knowledge of our religion.

Mass of the Holy Ghost

Father Fahey's last blessing in the Mass of the Holy Ghost signals the beginning of a new year at Mercy. It is in this Mass that we implore the Holy Ghost to enlighten our minds to knowledge, to strengthen our wills to obedience, and to open our hearts to true charity. When we begin our year with God, we trust that we will remain in His graces throughout our school year until we leave with His benediction in June. Father Raftery with his characteristic helpfulness assists Father Fahey.

It is especially fitting that Mother Mary Kathleen be pictured between the past president of Mercy Alumnae, Mrs. Leo Henning, and the newly-elected president, Mrs. George Kotel, on the occasion of the annual Alumnae Homecoming Sunday.

Every student can point with pride to our Student Council. Under the guidance of Sister Mary Stephen, its executive, consultative, and general councils have worked in harmony to make Mercy a finer place in which to pray, to study, and to recreate.

As senior class president, Margie Ellis has been given a great honor as well as much responsibility. But Margie, by her sparkling personality and boundless energy, has proven herself capable of the trust placed in her by her fellow students. Here we see Margie accepting for the entire senior class the invitation extended by the alumnae to join its ranks.

Toward The Eternal

Commencement—

Religion

To educate the entire individual, Mercy aims first to develop the spiritual and moral character of her students. She is aware of the unChristian principles and ideals alive today. By establishing a strong set of values and a sound moral code Mercy gives a firm foundation upon which to build rich and rewarding lives.

Fortified with the knowledge that they have received from the priests and sisters, the students realize that they will be able to preserve their integrity in the midst of a materialistic world.

Look! I have the very same picture in my booklet.

Carol Fasbinder, Carol Dore, and Mary Ann Loftus compare notes on the booklets they have prepared on Our Lady.

Cheer up!

*It's leap year and it says here that there are 1,000 marriageable males for every girl in the city. Father Fahey, in one of his talks on marriage, addresses a panel consisting of seniors Sue Smolinski, Judy Novis, Karen Swanson, and Carol Doran.

My, what cold hands you have.
Mercy's own Lorraine Bruno chats with T.V. star Danny Thomas after a banquet at which she sang. It was partly because of the splendid discipline that she received at Mercy that Lorraine is able to succeed in the entertainment world. Miss Bruno looks back on Mercy with a note of thanks and appreciation for her wonderful training.

When the alumnae reminisce on the "good old days," fond memories of the Glee Club are never arniss. From their freshman year in general music, they looked forward to membership in the Glee Club or the fabulous a cappella as the pinnacle of achievement.

In the chemistry laboratory girls work diligently on a new experiment.

Science

Science

Progress in scientific knowledge is one of our most important products here at Mercy. Our freshmen enjoy many informative classes about one of God's most complex creatures — man. Upon entering sophomore year they go one step further and examine the other living organisms in God's creation — the plants and animals. As juniors they experiment with the elements in nature and discover what the earth's atmosphere is made of. In their senior year they are given an opportunity to widen the circle of scientific knowledge by studying physics. All of these combined form a solid foundation for a college education.

Another graduate salutes Mercy for the beginnings of a sacrificing but rewarding career. From Mercy's science department Dr. Marie Bohn went on to become an eminent physician. Through the disciplines of science and math Dr. Bohn was enabled to prepare herself for this dedicated life.

Oh, what pretty blue eyes he has!
Through the study of biology Nancy Keane, Clare Hackett, Linda Koenig, Ellen O'Gallagher, and Jo Ellen Runyard learn the various structures of animal life.

Let  $x$  equal "algebra" and  $y$  equal "geometry." Multiplying both unknowns by 2, we can derive that  $2x$  equals "advanced algebra" and  $2y$  equals "trigonometry." When trigonometry raises its logarithmed head, the Mercy mathematician is convinced she has conquered the fundamentals of math. This is what Mercy High School offers—a 4 year program stressing the 4 different phases of mathematics.

Advanced algebra seems to be posing a "problem" to Rose Marie Trahey and Marlene Balden.

The class in clothing makes the clothes with "class."
The clothing class busily prepares its creations for its annual fashion show.

Home Arts

Whoops! Michele, your "well-balanced meal" is really slipping. Michele McKinney and Victoria Chouinard check the chart to make sure their day's menus contain the "basic seven."

The family is the basis of our society; the nucleus of the family is the combination of wife and mother. To play this role well requires skill in sewing, cooking, interior decorating, and money management.

Mercy offers this preparation through its four-year course in the homemaking arts. Sewing, once mastered, becomes a useful art that never grows old or out of date. Besides, the thrill of modeling a garment of your own making is an experience unequalled.

Being able to select the most nutritious, yet economical foods is of vital importance. Our girls also learn to prepare meals which appeal to the eye as well as the palate.

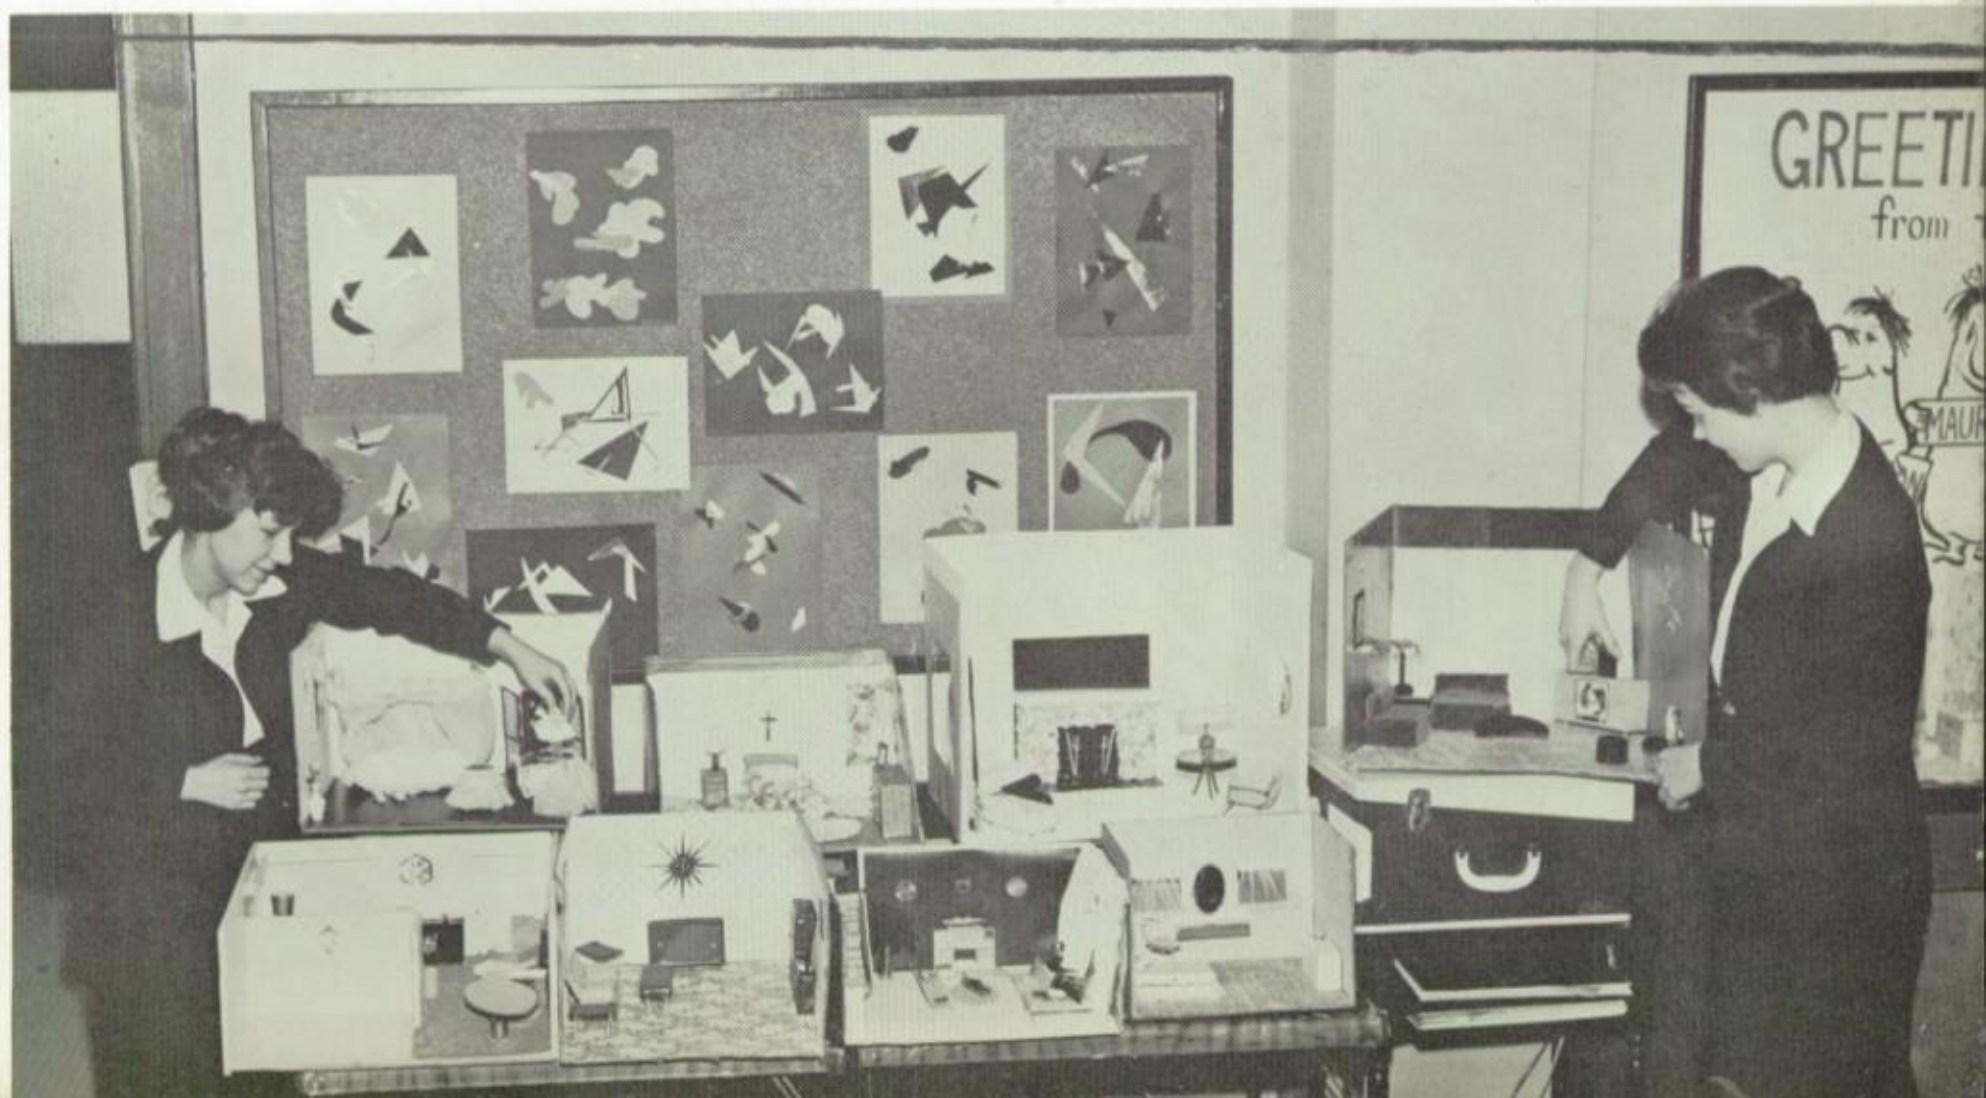

Interior decoration can bring an entirely new atmosphere into a home. Many Mercy girls have learned the satisfaction of designing their own bedrooms in miniature.

The future health and happiness of our country depend on the girls of today, the homemakers of tomorrow.

Mrs. Neal Coyle was well prepared for her all-important role in life. With the excellent training in home arts afforded her at Mercy, Mrs. Coyle has made a fine wife and mother. It is easy to see why she is proud to claim Mercy as her alma mater, and to exhibit her three beautiful children—Kevin, Kim, and Kathy.

Come into my parlor; you may not fit—but you're welcome.
Kathy Virgo and Eileen Gallagher add the finishing touches to their model rooms in the 10:15 art class.

The business courses at Mercy have long been the stepping stones to fine positions everywhere. Sound as the training has been, it is now further enhanced by a knowledge of and facility in using many modern business machines.

Our Better Business Bureau

Miss Merle McMahon has won for herself a wonderful standing in the business world. Because she took advantage of the fine secretarial course offered her, Miss McMahon was easily fitted into a good position and was welcomed by both her employer and fellow workers. Again heartfelt thanks go out to Mercy from another successful alumna.

So that's where sardines come from!
Judy Janovic questions Pat Murphy in world history.

Through the World History course the student is introduced to the culture of the ancient world. As a junior she studies the early history of our country and learns to apply the solutions of young America to the crises existing in the world today. The senior through her American Problems class is led to the realization of the urgency of these problems and the importance of her participation in forming our country's future.

Passport into the Past . . . Social Science

There it is, between those two dots. Mary St. Germain, Susan Vahl, Junemary Jones, and Judy Marion find it an asset to be able to locate the countries which they are studying in their U. S. History class.

Everyone is thrilled with the excitement of a courtroom and its proceedings and so was Mrs. Margaret Galvin O'Malley. She pursued this field and with the help given her by the social studies course offered to her, she has become a prominent judge of the Family Court. Mrs. O'Malley is grateful to Mercy for her start in the world of law.

Being the illustrator as well as author of her books, Mrs. Catherine Corley Anderson has won a laudable place in the literary field. The complete courses in English received at Mercy provided an excellent background for Mrs. Anderson and were a great asset in her work.

A PLAY IN ONE ACT

(Flourish of trumpets)

Presenting Mercy's English Course

Enter: Literature, Grammar, Composition, and Student

Literature: I introduce the great works of prose and poetry to Mercy girls for their interpretation and greater understanding.

Grammar: Through me, our students will realize all the important relationships that exist between words and punctuation.

Composition: And my job is to develop originality by teaching the girls to express their ideas in creative writing.

Student: I'll learn your lessons,
If you teach them well.
And you'll be my companions,
Wherever I dwell.

All. We'll work together to achieve our aims,
And know the results will be worth our pains.

Is this a dagger I see before me?

Seniors Diane Morrow, Marianne Johnston, and Virginia Aubrey discuss one of the most famous works of English Literature studied during fourth year.

Pat O'Connell conducts a discussion on current events in the public speaking class taught by Miss Synon. This informative class teaches the student poise and self-confidence in the presence of others.

Toward a More Picturesque Speech . . .

Language Arts

The ancient world offers a challenging and interesting study for Mercy Latin students. These classes reflect the idea that a true appreciation of this language lies in the correlation of new ideas and attitudes with the old.

Realizing the importance of stressing the cultural as well as the linguistic heritage of Spain, Mercy's Spanish department has developed a three-year program of instruction ranging from the correct pronunciation of "el espanol" to the correct interpretation of Cervantes' satire on the social conditions of that medieval world power.

"How many apples did you have, Caesar?"

"Et tu, Brute."

Judy Crescenzo, Carole Groboski, and Kathleen Dudzik must have vivid imaginations to find Caesar amusing!

French and French Club . . .

Delving into her past history and studying her present culture, Mercians become acquainted with the story of sophisticated France. American favorites, sung in French, add a spark of fun to this four year course.

It says here, "We are happy to inform you that the French Foreign Legion accepts your services with pleasure."

Library and Library Club . . .

Indispensable to the studies program, Mercy's library offers students a valuable chance to increase their knowledge and to stimulate their interests. Through the assistance of library aides, directed by Sister Mary Norita, all books, magazines, audiovisual materials, records, and phonographs are circulated quickly and efficiently to all faculty members or students. The attractive and congenial atmosphere of the library lends itself to all phases of library work and activities.

Sister Mary Agnita, full-time senior counselor, guides the girls to best utilize the courses they have taken by choosing a college or career best suited to their capabilities. With Sister at this meeting is Sue Smolinski.

And this, my dear, is the very latest thing entitled Two Sure Ways to Get a Husband, by Tripum and Ketchum.

Judy Kania, Jeannine Virgo, and Rose Marie Trahey enthusiastically make plans for their next visit to Misericordia where Judy has been the Sisters' best little helper.

Sodality of Our Lady

At the Sodality Assembly, Marlene Lollock, as Our Lady, and Nancy Stewart, Nancy Toms, Cathy McDonnell, Linda Brodeen, and Rose Marie Trahey dramatize the fact that down through the ages young girls have always found courage and refuge in the heart of their heavenly Mother.

During Vocation week, Sister Agnes Beirne, Sister Mary Irenaeus, Sister Frances Mary, Sister Sharon Fleming, Sister Joan Waldron, and Sister Maureen Scott were welcomed to Mercy's stage to give a resume on the "Life of a Religious." Sisters and students enjoyed seeing their former students and classmates again.

Mercy students have many opportunities to increase devotion to our Blessed Mother through the Sodality. As Sodality members, they implore her to aid them in meriting their eternal reward by consecrating themselves to her and by adhering to the Sodality rules.

Catherine Riordan, Joan Higgins, and Janet Kania mend jewelry for the missions, one of the Freshman Sodality's yearly projects.

During this beautiful ceremony which climaxes the religious activities of the year, Kathy English, Mary Pat Judge, Irene Foote, Joanne Epach, Judi Peredna, and Anita Sweeney make the Act of Consecration with the entire student body.

Joanne Epach
Prioress of Third Order

Father Fidelis, director of the Third Order of Mt. Carmel, addresses its members during the monthly meeting at Carmel.

Third Order of Mt. Carmel

"Whosoever dies wearing the scapular shall not suffer eternal fire." This is the promise upon which the Third Order tertiaries rely. It helps to increase their devotion to Our Lady of Mt. Carmel. Through the Third Order, Mercy girls have found a more perfect way of striving for heaven.

Members of the Third Order of Mt. Carmel assemble in the conference room to discuss the problems of teenagers.

After the meeting, the Third Order group returns to the recreation room for a social hour during which they dance, bowl, or play pool. They might even eat if the opportunity presents itself. This happens to be a birthday party for Terry O'Leary, Secretary.

Young Christian Students

Sister Mary Norita and some members of the Y.C.S. hold their weekly discussion meeting. Jerry Paconowski, Marilyn Mathieu, Kathleen Dudzik, and Pauline Ziemia are intent on what Connie Dienes is saying.

Cisca

Through the efforts of the Y.C.S., Young Catholic students have an opportunity to discuss the problems of an average American teen. Cisca is published to inform high school students of the news and views about Catholic affairs. The Sacred Heart League's special project for this year is the promotion of nightly family adoration of the Sacred Heart.

Anita Sweeney, Mary Sue Miller, and Kathleen Shanahan count the candy which has been collected for the annual Cisca candy drive at Mercy.

Sacred Heart League

Jeannine Kotel and Loris Cody kneel in night adoration before the picture of the Sacred Heart.

During Thanksgiving week each year, Mercy holds its annual retreat, a treasured three days for every Mercy girl. At this time, the girls go to Mass and Communion, attend conferences, and make frequent visits to the Blessed Sacrament.

Father Hartman, retreat master for the juniors and seniors, is about to administer Holy Communion during retreat exercises.

And I gave up cupcakes during retreat! Silence is observed by Madelaine De Mercede, Nancy Keane, and Jeannine Kotel during retreat—even in the cafeteria where the drop of a pin cannot usually be heard.

Your pedestrian's license, please! Janet Brown, Mary Beth Born, and Diane Perruso enact a scene that is quite familiar in the halls these days.

The Student Council helps the student to understand and appreciate the functions of Mercy High School. The purpose and ideals of every school organization are outlined and presented in the Student Council Assembly, the first assembly of the year. The Student Council also assists in organizing the Sunset Point trip for seniors. And this year, in an effort to maintain better order in the halls, the Student Council has introduced a completely new system of merit cards. And violators are prosecuted!

The Student Council

Alumnae Sunday represents an important day in the life of all loyal Mercy graduates. It is highlighted by the dramatic reception of the Senior Class into the Mercy Alumnae Federation and the induction of new officers for the coming year. After business reports and Benediction followed by a festive tea, alumnae members are able to get together to reminisce and renew old acquaintances.

I wonder how many calories that has?

Alumnae Sunday

Father Fahey is seen offering Benediction for the Senior Class and for all Mercy alumnae at the annual Alumnae homecoming.

And I'll take two lumps.

What could be more "lovely"?
Jeannine and Kathleen Virgo made a "twinny twosome" in the Glee Club Production.

Entertainments

With the coming of spring, Glee Club members are submerged in a hubhub of activity preparing for the Spring Show. The time, energy, and work spent making this production a success is hardly comparable to the delightful and satisfying results. Thanks to you, Sister Rose Marie, for your untiring efforts in behalf of the Glee Club.

Music! Music!

"Oh, you beautiful dolls." Everyone agreed the sophomores captured the hearts of all as they made their debut in the annual Glee Club Production.

Music!

The June Taylor Dancers have nothing on our own Glee Club juniors who prove that it's difficult, but not impossible, to dance and sing.

Bob Smith and Janice Sullivan harmonized perfectly in the beautiful "Wanting You".

Dianne Muller and Julie Chouinard sing "Ciao, Ciao, Bambina".

Which way did they go? They went that-a-way. This isn't the Saddler Wells Ballet; it's just our own junior ballet.

Seniors share the enthusiasm of Nancy Garrity and Gerry Seguin as they wait to board the Mercyville Trolley.

Could these be vaudeville dandies exhibiting their talents? No, they are Mercy's senior Glee Club members, being dashing and debonair.

In the spirit of the "gay 90's" Ave Cranley and Carol Keeler agree to "meet in St. Louis."

The Play's The Thing

Nancy Toms, Pat Schaefer, Nancy Stewart, Geraldine McCabe, and Ellen Kovacs appear to be having a small problem with a night prowler in "Nobody Sleeps."

Nancy Toms
President—Dramatic Art

Director Phyllis Janik is giving her cast last-minute instructions before the curtain goes up on the Dramatic Art students' first big production of the year—"Witch Hazel." Listening to her are Ildiko Olah, Jane Trahey, Lynn Hall, Delores Stangel, Charlotte Nash, Ellen O'Gallagher, Nancy Keane, and Maureen Rodich.

Through the study of Dramatic Art, the student is given the opportunity to entertain her fellow students by portraying a variety of characters. From this study of individuals she discovers what makes up her own personality and learns to capitalize on her own qualities, correctly expressing herself in everything she does — speaking, walking, gesturing.

For the Dramatic Art students the presentation of "Weenies on Wednesday" was more fun than usual because they produced all the "props" themselves.

Cheerleaders, led by Sharon Kelly, welcome "all the people to the senior play as the cast gets set back stage."

Senior Play

We're off to college via the magic of the Senior Class Play. Under the able direction of Miss Mary Synon and the "atmosphere" provided by Sister Mary Stephen and Sister Mary Emily, Brook Valley Academy becomes a reality. As the play unfolds, memories of their own collegiate days are revived in the hearts of many Mercy Alumnae, and it is quite evident to all that this year's seniors are "The Young and Fair."

"See ya later, alligator." Red Lyons gives an example of the "slang" used by the freshmen at Brook Valley to a group of new arrivals.

Patty Morritt (Gerry Seguin) finds that boarding school can be fun, especially with a roommate like Lee Baron (Michele Kowalesik).

In order to orientate the freshmen, a fashion show is staged by the seniors of Brook Valley. Agnes Burke demonstrates the correct apparel for a Spanish major; Jean Hoban, a biology major; Karen Stortz, a Latin major; Bonnie Boyle tries to "stir up" her audience to join the Home Economics Department.

Patty Morritt (Nancy Toms) and her older sister Frances (Stephanie Gustine), both anxious to become a part of Brook Valley, listen with Sara Cantry (Ellen Kovacs) as Laura Cantry (Gerry McCabe), Brook Valley's art teacher, gives an animated oration on the aesthetic quality of art.

The Young and the Fair

Nancy (Nancy Stewart) anxiously watches while Dru Eldridge (Marlene Lollock) tries to persuade the freshmen to support the Vigilante, a club the school has outlawed.

Fashion Show

Dressed for the Easter Parade, sewing students, their mothers, and their little sisters display their spring fashions.

The annual Spring Fashion Show presents the girls who take Clothing in their beautifully designed suits, dresses, and formals. Under the direction of Sister Mary Ambrosia, this year's classes specialized in "Mother, Daughter, Little Sister" outfits, and delightful three-somes they were.

Reading the patterns, cutting and basting materials were new experiences for Mary Ellen Pecora, Diane Sypniewski, and Carol Vasil. Now that they have learned the basic steps of sewing, they can proceed still further into advanced and intricate arrangements.

"Sugar and Spice and Everything Nice"

Suits me! How about you?
Eileen Barrett and Carol Reichling model their matching suits.

With a touch of spring in both color and style, Marion Hurtt, Mary Ellen Pecora, Eileen Barrett, and Jeannine Virgo pose among the flowers in their lovely date dresses.

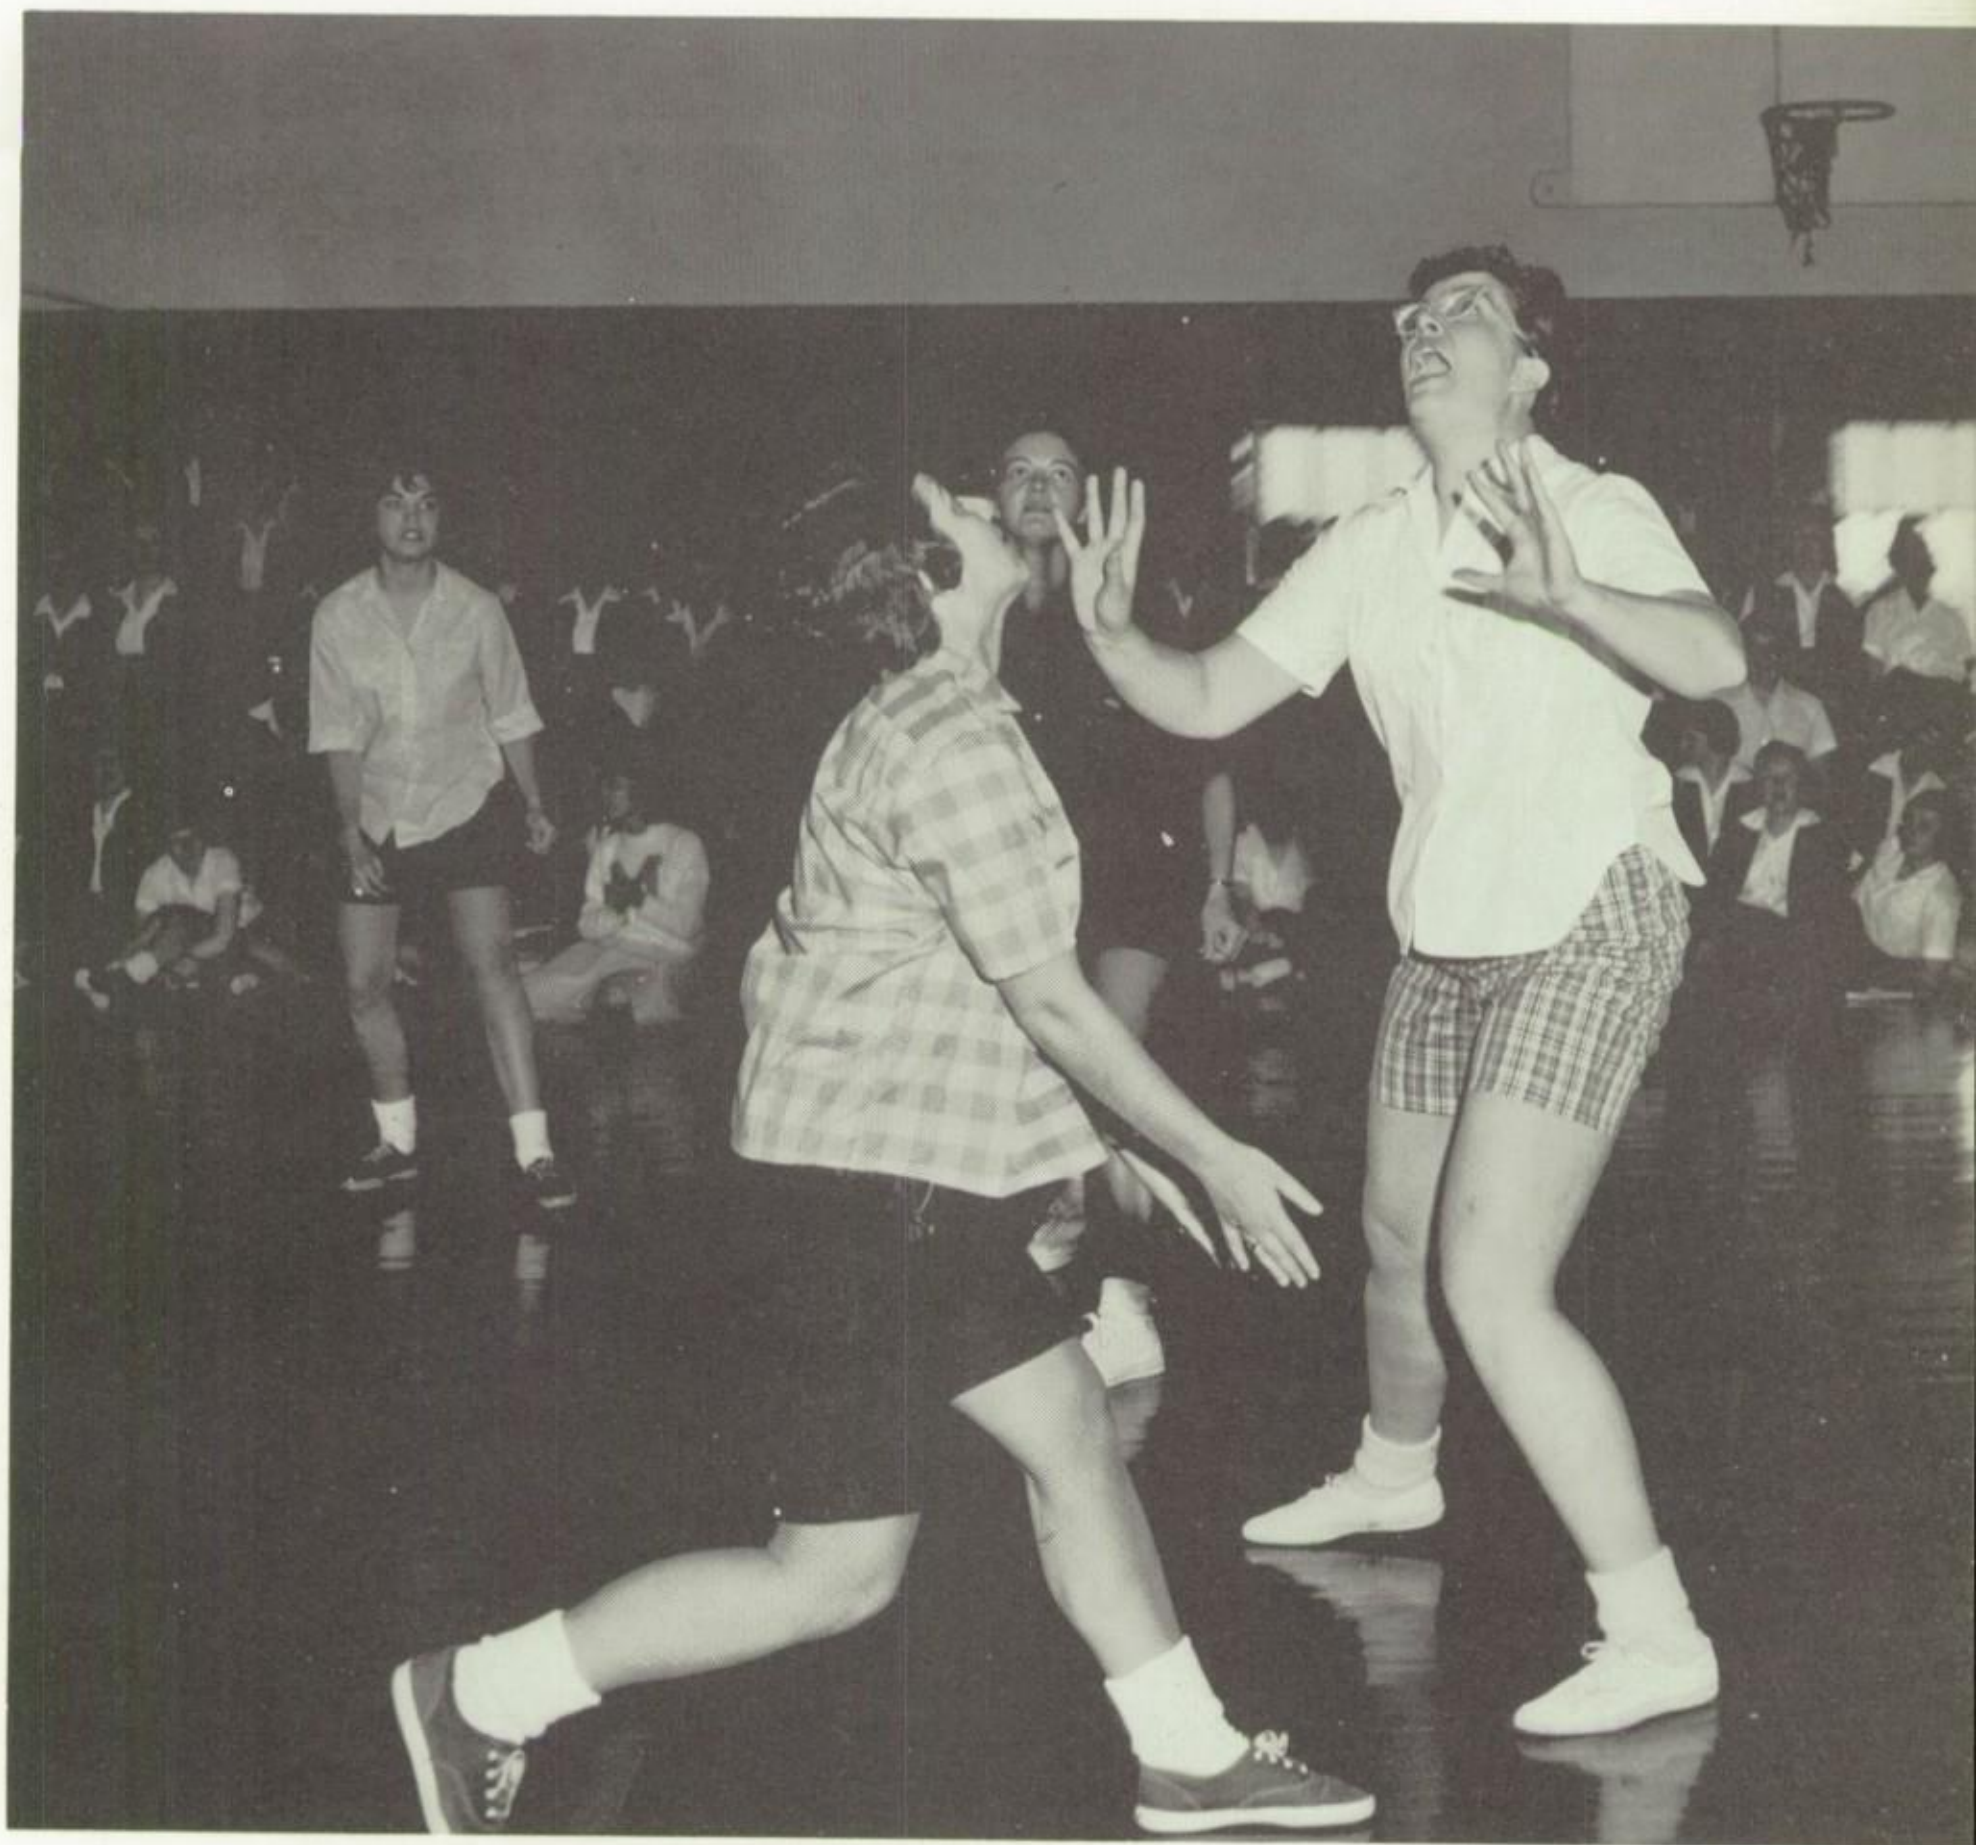

Clothing class students, Diane Nowak and Claudia Kozlowski, model their Mother, Daughter, and Little Sister threesomes. Mrs. Al Biernacki, a Mercy Alumna and Gretchen Aanerud accompany Claudia, while Mrs. Lyons and Betty Kelly pose with Diane.

School-mates

It's "off to school we go" in our casuals. Mary Ann Lewis, Diane Novak, Eileen Barrett, Carol Reichling, and Jeannine Virgo had to know something of fabrics and colors which "mate" in order to plan these little numbers.

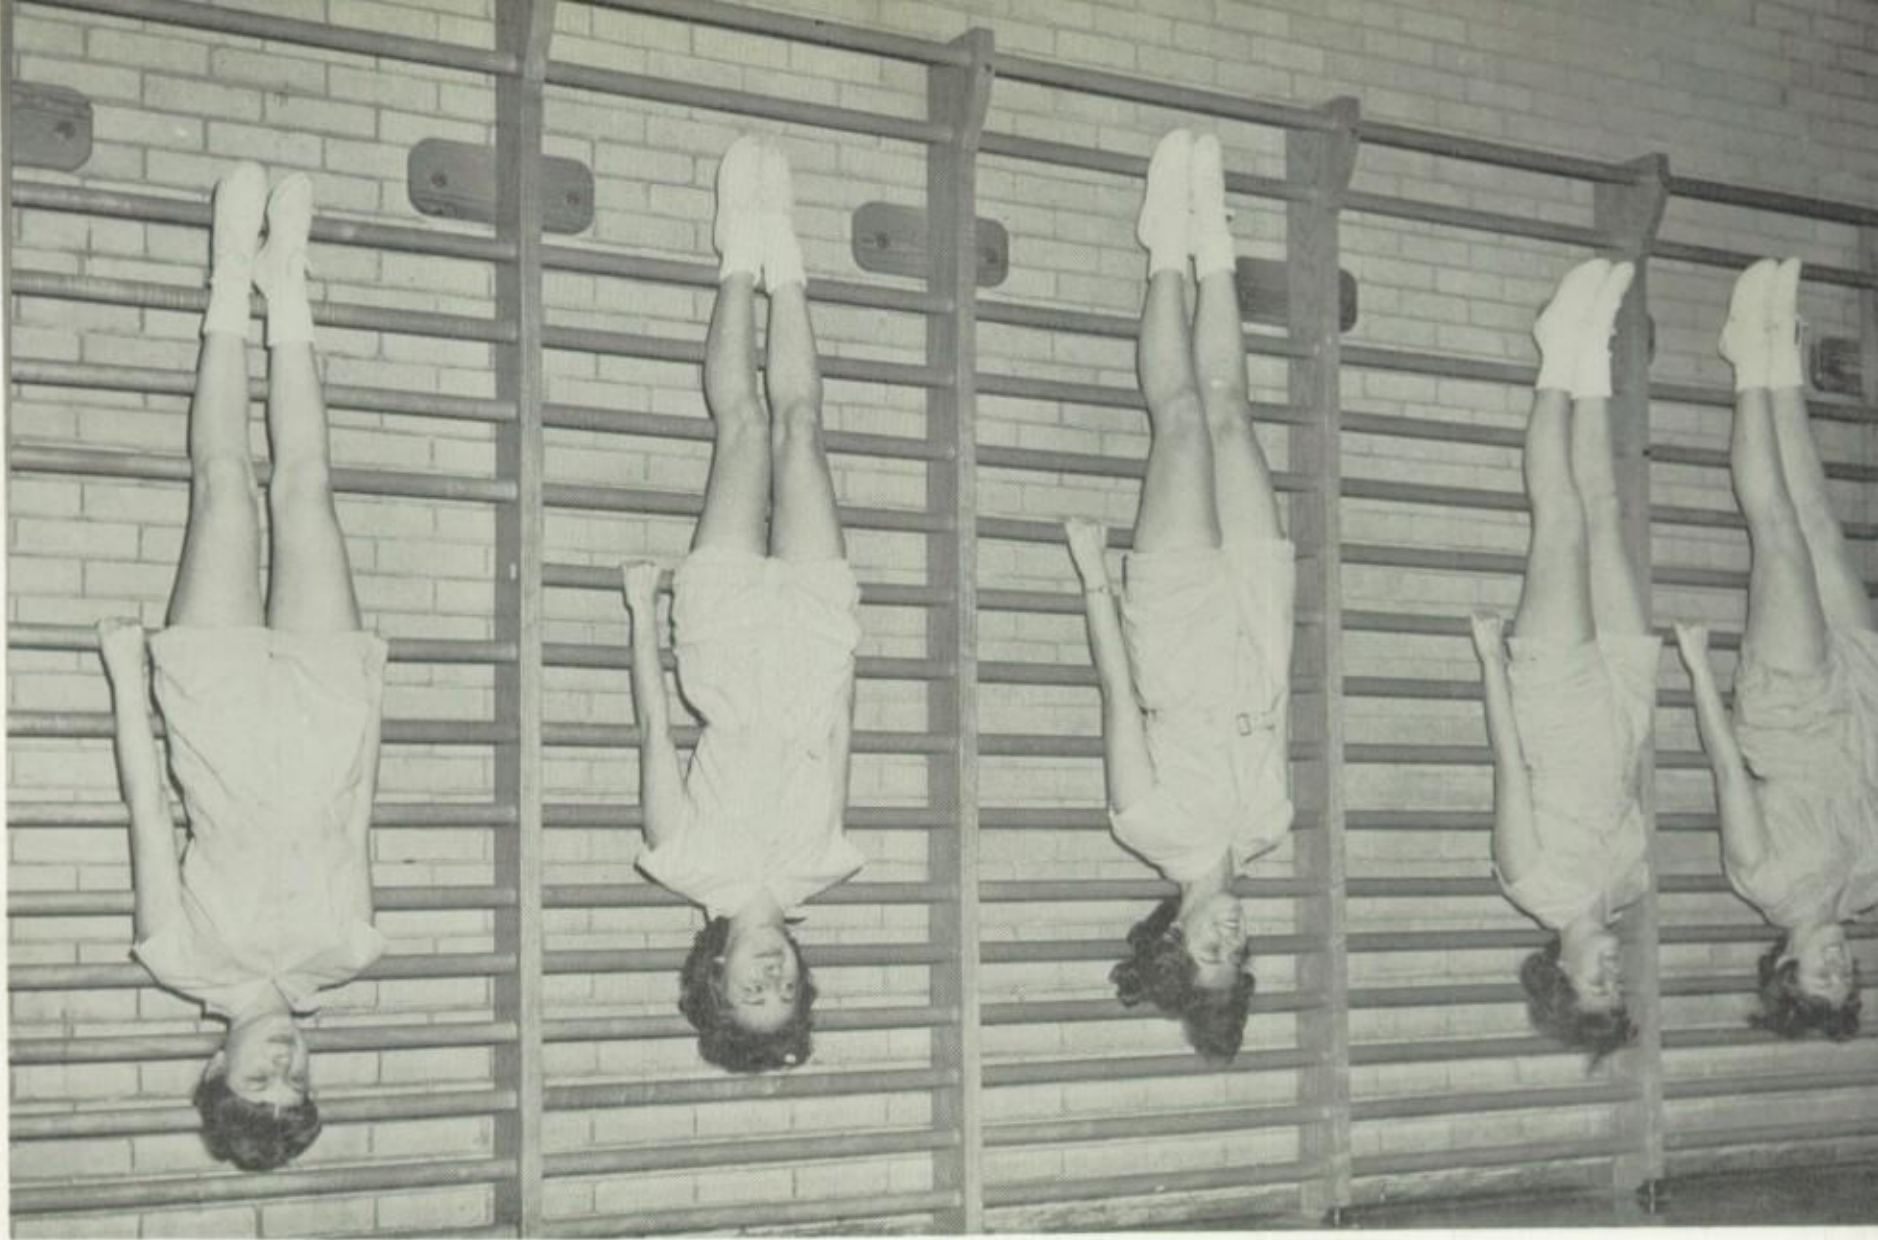

Eek! Methinks I see a bat.
In order to avoid a clash with Jo Amedio, Barb McGarvey calls for the ball. Joan Curtin's face reflects the tension of the moment.

Sports

This will really make your hair stand on end. Nancy Toms, Fran Mulka, Gerry McCabe, Mary Menzyk, and Jackie Salvador look as if they are enjoying their ride on the Mercy rotor.

Physical Education

In the education of the whole individual, its physical aspect must not be neglected. It is physical as well as moral, social, and scholastic development which combines to produce a well-educated person. In the weekly gym classes, the principles of fair play, good sportsmanship, and team work are embedded in the personality of the individual.

You're certainly trying, Merc; very trying. Stevie Gustine, Mary Sweeney, and Bernice Sykora will agree that Mercedes Conway lives up to her nickname of "slugger."

Varsity

With beaming smiles, the varsity members—Terry Lukas, Carol Vignasse, Jo Ann Looby, Jackie Salvador, Gerry Gasperec, Fran Rooney, Mary Keegan, and Gerry Granich proudly display their hard-won trophies.

Mercy "Seven" Routs Fenger Varsity To Cap- ture Palmer Park Tourney

The 1960 team has added another link in the unbreakable chain of great Mercy varsities. To the excellent coaching of Miss Smith can be attributed a long line of outstanding accomplishments. During the past ten years varsity teams have seized over twenty-five championships including C.Y.O. and various park tournaments. Through participation in various contests our varsity has represented us creditably, making the name of Mercy one associated with a hard playing, friendly, and spirited team.

Varsity in Action . . .

She stoops to conquer.
Fran Rooney gets set to retrieve one of Moe O'Neil's tricky plays.

"If you can't hear us, we'll yell a little louder."
The spirited cheering section provides that added spark needed to clinch many close games.

"With the greatest of ease . . ."
Cathy Kelly demonstrates her volleyball technique with the grace of a ballet dancer.

Whose side are you on?
Miss Smith congratulates Fran Rooney, this year's varsity captain, and Rose Byrne, former captain of the varsity, on the excellent playing of both teams after the annual alumnae game.

Look for the "m" on each piece.
These enthusiastic rooters—Margie Ellis, Ruth Ellen Olsen, Karen Torme, Sharon Yonaite, and Joanne Curatolo—are always on hand to cheer the team on to victory.

Don't be glum, chums.

Intramural Games

Up and at 'em.

Jackie Salvador offers some "verbal assistance" to Theresa Byrne while Mary Menzyk stands by.

Reach for the sky. I've got ya covered. Things are looking up for Dolores Zurek, Charlene Chisik, Mary Keegan, Darlene Gallagher, and Sue Ellison.

I hope I remembered my lunch.

Trips

That's our Fran ! ! ! !

Ye olde "Ed" in her usual state. Cathy Panozzo and Mary Lou Kuemmeth enjoy a snooze on the way home.

Heaven help the poor bus driver!

Help! I think I've lost an arm!

Judy Janovic and Pat Johnson are real "snow-babies".

Romeo, Romeo. Wherefore art thou, Romeo?

Sisters Mary Alicia, Laureen, and Imelda enjoy the scene from the balcony at Sunset Point.

Sunset Point

"All aboard!" We're off, with the seniors, on another winter holiday at Sunset Point. As the miles begin to dwindle, the glow of excitement aboard the bus begins to mount, until . . . "We're here at last!" Three glorious days filled with skating, tobogganing, and skiing help to make many a book of memories bulge. But alas, all things must end, and so the happy "pointers" return home with misty eyes, a few extra pounds, and loads of tales to tell.

Now altogether, everybody, push!
Margie Ellis, Karen Stortz, Maryan Collins, Janet Brown, and Rita Collins in need of some assistance.

Charge!
Gerry Brown, Ginger Styler, Merc Conway, Karen Dawe, Carol Beer, Donna Pink, and Janet Brown sing for their supper.

Aw, what do you mean, they're not becoming?

Rita Collins, Maryan Collins, and Dolores Lyons were tempted beyond their strength.

The juniors pose with Abraham Lincoln.

"Keep to the right—single file."

Springfield Trip for Juniors

And the best part of it is they're having school back at Mercy!

Poor Lincoln! He looks so very lonely. At least that's what the juniors thought and so they decided to cheer him up.

"Guess where we are? . . . New Salem!? How could you tell?"

He said, "Yes"! Donna O'Callaghan joyously echoes the cry of many the week before each dance. Eileen Gallagher shares her excitement.

Dances

"While visions of sugar plums dance through her head."

Lenore Kearney looks starry-eyed after being crowned queen of the Student Council Dance.

... and promenade her home.
Lenore and company lead the grand march.

On September 25 the Student Council sponsored its sixth annual dance. This festive event, held in Mercy's "ballroom", heralded the opening of this year's social season. For the young sophomore debutantes, it is their coming-out party. Prepared for an enjoyable evening, the juniors arrive early for this gala occasion. The seniors carefully tuck away fond memories on which to reminisce at alumnae reunions.

Student Council Dance

With a whirl and a twirl Mercy girls and their escorts dance the evening away at "Magic Carpet Capers."

Bon Voyage.
Queen Lenore and her escort pose in front of their magic gondola.

Dummies and by-lines are put aside as the Editors-Donna Pink and Cathy Panozzo-and Assistant Editors-Mercedes Conway and Mary Ann Quinn-of the Hi Rays and the Mercian relax with their dates at the Publications Dance.

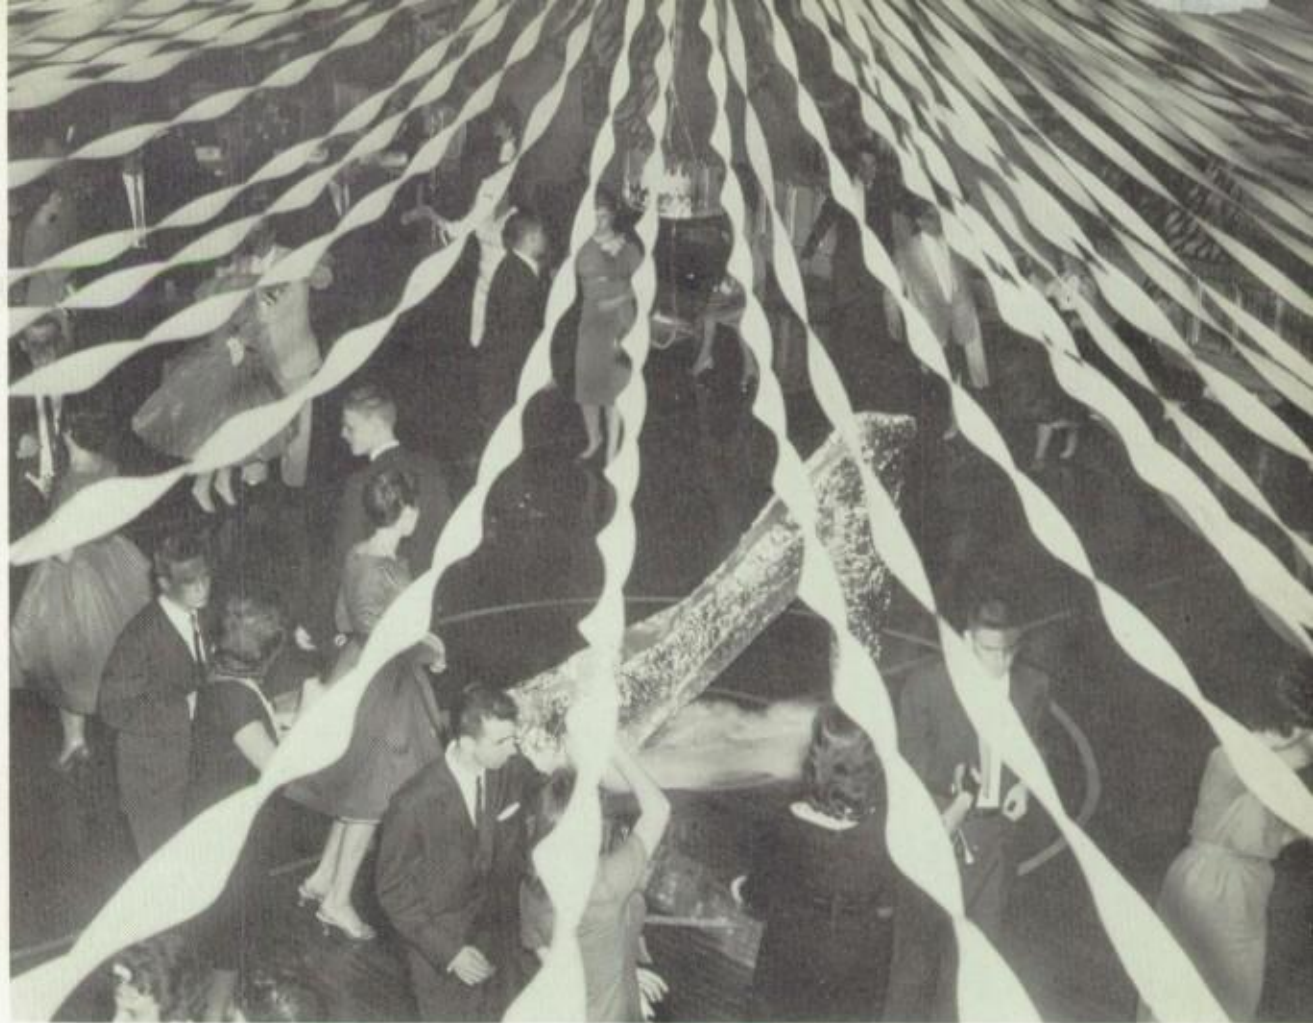

"Yes, sir, that's my girl."
Midge Rudnick is crowned queen of the Publications' Dance by Donna Pink, Editor of the Hi Rays.

Dance

"I could have danced all night."
It looks as though things are in full swing and well under control at the Staff Dance.

... with no strings attached.

O. K. Arthur! 1-2-3 step.
Midge gleams with delight as she dances
to "Young at Heart."

Janice Sullivan, President of the Glee Club, proudly accepts her "special night" bid as her escort smiles happily.

Looking their loveliest, the a cappella prove to everyone present that "music hath charms." Shown are: Sharon Casey, Nancy Garrity, Diane Muller, Julie Chouinard, and Sue Ellison.

Glee Club Formal

Annually the Mercy Glee Club sponsors a lavish fall formal which gives its members a delightful taste of social life. Storing up "Unforgettable" memories at the Del Prado Hotel the Glee Club girls and their guests danced through an enchanted evening. Traditionally, alumnae Glee Club members return to enjoy this special school event.

The evening reaches its peak as Janice sings "Unforgettable," enhancing each girl's memories of the Glee Club Dance.

The melodious voices of the senior a cappella augment an already happy evening. Those seen are: Claudia Kozlowski, Cathie Hackett, Mary Ellen Lyons, Jeannine Virgo, Diana Sypniewski, Kathy Virgo, Carolyn Phillips, Janice Sullivan, Mary Jane Schlosser, Margie Ellis, Pat Murphy, Mary Beth Born, Marge Denk, and Carol Keeler.

On February 12 amid strings of icicles, artistic snow-scenes, and a jolly snowman, in a winter wonderland of fun and fantasy, Mercy's Athletic Association presented its annual sports dance, "Frosty Frolic."

M.A.A. Dance

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. M. A. A. queen Darlene Zielinski is surrounded by her court — Nancy Garrity, Karen Horan, Nancy Flaherty, Judy Grigonis, Bonnie Valentas, Judy Scheffers, and Sharon Torreano.

It was a big day when the juniors received their class rings: it was an even bigger evening when, beaming with pride and excitement, they celebrated this important event at the Junior Ring Dance. The girls' mood spread infectiously to their escorts as they danced gayly through an evening of fun and music. Looking back on that night they will recall wonderful memories of the dance which introduced them to the future that awaited them as the Mercy Senior Class of 1961.

Junior Ring Dance

Queen Rosemarie Mathieu is surrounded by her court—Carol Candice, Carole Tresch, Peggy Ahearn, Sharon Yonaites, Nancy Forbis, Gerry Gross, and Jean Foran.

"Three coins in the fountains"

Juniors and their escorts enjoy the latest in realistic dance decorations and decide that they'll always remember April.

This picture really packs a punch!
Seniors and their escorts stop at Mercy for a quick cocktail party.

Senior Prom

In keeping with true Mercy tradition, Class President Margie Ellis and her escort consecrate their Prom evening to our Blessed Mother.

At last that long-dreamed-of night of nights has arrived. The "pin curls" and "cold cream" have disappeared, and a glow of anticipation radiates from every face. The door bell rings and the happy couple are off to the gala Senior Prom. While swaying to the soft strains of the orchestra, the thought suddenly occurs that this night with their classmates will be one of their last and soon it will come time to say, "Farewell, Senior Class."

Dahling, come with me to 'ze Casbah. Therese Lamberger and her escort dance to their hearts content at the Senior Prom.

Well done! Two girls who made good use of their days at Mercy are Bonnie Palmquist, recipient of the Bauch Lomb award, and Mary Marshall, Honor Key winner.

Dear Maureen,
Throughout a life time
I will always remember
you. May God Bless you in all your endeavors.

Love
Colleen

Dear Maureen
You are one of
the nicest kids
I know. I hope
we have our classes
together again next year. God Bless you
Love,
Helen

Dear Maureen,
Best of Luck in
the future years
at mercy. Always stay as sweet as you are.

Love,
Manny
Byrne

Dear Maureen,
Good Luck in your
future years at Mercy.
I hope we are in the same classes again
next year.
Pat Miller

Dear Maureen,
Stay sweet and lovely always. God bless and keep you.
Love,
Robert

Dear Maureen,
Good Luck in your remaining years
at Mercy. Stay as sweet as you are now. Love
Donna
Pisone

Dear Maureen
If you stay as nice as you are now you'll be the most popular kid at Mercy.
Good Luck.
Terry
The Aley.

Dear Maureen,
Good luck in all you do. I hope we will have our class together
next year too. Remember and pray for
Maureen Daly
